

A few corporations control what we see, hear, and read through their ownership of airways, print media, and online portals. Media diversity has dramatically declined in the past 25 years with fewer independent radio stations and daily newspapers. I ask that the FCC not limit media power to a few corporations.